

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0050] Embodiments of the present invention relate to systems and methods for remote presence recognition information delivery. In an embodiment, the system includes an information delivery system. A remote presence detector is coupled to the information delivery system and is configured to send a presence indicator to the information delivery system. The information delivery system is configured to take an information delivery action based at least in part on the presence indicator.

Document #: 1165030 v.1